C. M. Hammett, M. D., late health officer of the District, has submitted to the Commissioners the twenty-third annual report due for the year ending June 30, 1894. The total of deaths was: Whites, 3,329; colored, 2,710. The death rates for years, beginning with 1876, are given, the lowest per centage per 1,000 being in 1890, given at 17.25, white, and in 1867, colored, 30.10. The mean is given as, white, 18.48; colored, 53.30; total, 23.41. Death rate for last year, 22.16. The decrease in the death rate for last year over the pre-ceding year is stated at 418. This decrease occurred mainly among the classes of dis-cases watch include train, heart, and lang disorders.

The work of food inspection shows a material increase in the condemnation of unwholesome products over any one of the eight years previous, the enumeration of articles taking in the wholerange of marketable commodifies in the food and truit line. There were 430,718 bushels of oysters inspected, 42,859 shad, and a 030,000 herring. The enumeration total embraces twenty-nine varieties of marine products.

The number of patients among the poor

The number of patients among the poor under treatment during the year was 16,109, in 183 the number was 12,139. The patients were divided between the races, ast white, 6,112; colored, 9,247. Cost of medicines, 1895, 53,805,85; less, 82,785,55. Fourteen thousand one hundred and soventy-two tens of garbage were removed during the year, exclusive of night-soll. There were 7,025 barial permits for all purposes, 502 of these were for still births and 147 for disinterment of bodies. There were 847 births at public expense, as against 253 the previous year. Special examinations of localities infected with typhoid fever, dipheteria and scariatina were made in 311 instances.

It is suggested that a standard be fixed by

It is suggested that a standard be fixed by law for the quality of the milk sold in the District and special attention is asked for it. The number of analyses made by the chamst during the year is given as: Milk, 1,155; cream, 35; butter, 18; vinegar, 4; colored confectionery, 13; water from public wells, 25; water from private wells, 48; miscellaneous, 18. Total, 1,420. Beferring to the milk supply, the chemist saws: "While a few of the samples collected at the depots had evidently been tampered with, yet the average per cent of the fat for the 317 samples was 3,85; while the 128 samples collected about the city showed a percentage of only 1,37, or a removal of nearly 20 per cent, of the richness of the milk, and 230 of the latter samples was a below 5 per cent.

Thirty-three convictions only were secured for violations of the law, simply because, as the chemist explains, the law provides a penalty only where something has been added to the milk. This provision he regards as radically wrong. He thinks the standard should be 3.5 per cent, of butter fat, 12.5 per cent, of total solids, or not more than 87.5 of water and not less than 8.6 of solids not fat. The chemist thinks the Health Office should have even size urisidetion over the milk. The chemist thinks the Health Office should have exclusive jurisdiction over the milk

Thirty-three samples of water were found to be contaminated, and only two of the vine-gar samples were found to meet the requirements of pure elder vinegar. Many of the samples of so-called butter were found to be oleomargarine. Typhoid fever caused 191 deaths in localities widely scattered, and in gritpe was responsible for 147 deaths.

The deaths of children numbered 2,222, of which total 1,646 were under one year of age; of old are, 172 deaths occurred, 56 cases being of persons netween eighty and ninety years of ago, and 22 between linety und one hundred. Volence caused 207 deaths, 211 being accidental, 11 beniedes, and 41 suicides. Eighteen of the accidental deaths were caused by railways.

The Commissioners have approved the in-structions usued to the police in connection with the recent order for a census to be taken of the District, which provides that the leastenants shall divide the city and suburban precincis into enumeration districts and assign an officer to such. Persons who insbitually sleep in the District, those who reside in the District but who have business elsewhere, or who are without business, and those whose residence is in the District but who spend the
